(2) There shall be at least two down-conductors on each building and structure except flag poles, masts, similar slender objects and silos that do not require more than one grounding under subsection 3 of section 53.

(3) On flat roofs, conductors shall be coursed within two feet of the edges of the roof or on the parapets, but on flat roofs of dormers, conductors are not required within two feet of eaves that are less than fifty feet in length.

(4) On a flat roof, in addition to conductors within two feet of the edges of the roof or on the parapets, conductors shall be coursed over the roof so that there are parallel conductors not more than fifty feet apart,

(a) in one direction if the shorter dimension of the roof is more than fifty feet but less than 100 feet; and

(b) in two directions if the shorter dimension is 100 feet or more. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 404, s. 10.

(5) No conductor shall be suspended for a distance of more than four feet without adequate intermediate support.

(6) Any conductor around a chimney, eaves or other projecting part of a structure shall not be coursed abruptly, but shall be coursed on an open curve or angle.

(7) Where practicable, no conductor shall be less than six feet from metal frames and cases of electrical equipment, metal conduits and other metal raceways, but if a separation of six feet is not practicable, they shall be interconnected with the conductor.

(8) Where practicable, no conductor shall be within six feet of,

(a) exposed electric or telephone wires; or

(b) radio or television antennae.

(9) No conductor shall be within six feet of a tank containing a flammable liquid or gas. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 404, s. 11.

12. Conductors shall be coursed neatly and sufficiently tight to present a good appearance, but on grain elevators and other structures subject to physical deformation through cycles of loading and unloading, the conductors shall have sufficient flexibility to guard against breakage. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 404, s. 12.

13. Conductors shall be coursed so that there is not a rise of more than ten inches from any point in the conductor to any other point in the conductor in reaching at least one grounding, except that in the case of dead-end conductors there shall not be more than a six-inch rise, and in no case shall there be a rise of more than one inch in any two inches horizontally. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 404, s. 13.

14. Where practicable, no conductor shall be within six feet of metal stalls, stanchions, litter-carrier tracks, pipes, posts, beams, water-tanks, stoves, furnaces or other interior metal objects, but if it is within six feet the conductor shall be connected to them, as prescribed in section 45. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 404, s. 14.

15. Where a cupola, ventilator or other obstruction prevents a straight run of conductor, the conductor shall be coursed horizontally around the obstruction and, where the obstruction is of size or design requiring more than one air-terminal, the conductor shall also be coursed over the obstruction. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 404, s. 15.

DOWN-CONDUCTORS

16.—(1) On rectangular buildings and structures with roofs other than flat roofs there shall be at least two down-conductors, and, if the structure is more than 100 feet in length, there shall be an additional down-conductor for each sixty feet or part thereof in excess of 100 feet.

(2) On rectangular buildings and structures with flat roofs there shall be at least two down-conductors and, where the perimeter of the building is more than 200 feet, there shalll be an additional down-conductor for each 100 feet or part thereof in excess of 200 feet. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 404, s. 16.

17.—(1) On buildings with L, T or off-set wing portions, conductors shall be provided for the main portion as if it were independent of the wing portions, but, where practicable, the down-conductors on the main portion may serve as down-conductors for the wing portions by connecting the conductors on the wing portions to them.

(2) A wing portion of a building having its roof-ridge on the same level as, or less than five feet below, the roof-ridge of the main portion, measured along the roof-slope, shall have an additional down-conductor for each eighty feet of length or part thereof, measured along the wall or foundation, and the conductors on the wing portion and the main portion shall be interconnected at the junction of the two ridges.

(2) In applying the limitation contained in this section, if two or more trusts are created by the same settlor or settlors and as much as one-half of the income or principal or both of each trust is payable or applicable to the use of the same person or persons, such trusts shall be considered as one. O. Reg. 300/68, s. 2.

ADMISSIONS AND WITHDRAWALS OF PARTICIPATIONS

6.—(1) No trust moneys shall be admitted to and no participation shall be withdrawn from a Fund except on the basis of the trust company's valuation of the Fund and except as of a valuation date. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 6 (1).

(2) A period not in excess of fourteen business days of the trust company following a valuation date may be used to make the computations necessary to determine the value of the Fund and of the units thereof. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 6 (2); O. Reg. 300/68, s. 3.

(3) When a participation or any part thereof is withdrawn from a Fund, the amount withdrawn may, in the discretion of the trust company, be paid in cash or rateably in kind, or partly in cash and partly rateably in kind, but all payments or transfers as of any one valuation date shall be made on the same basis.

(4) No admission of trust moneys to or withdrawal of a participation from a Fund shall be permitted if the result would be that less than 40 per cent of the remaining assets of the Fund would be composed of cash and readily marketable securities, but nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prohibit a rateable distribution upon all participations.

(5) Where any security held in a Fund has become one that would not be eligible as a new investment of the Fund, and that state of ineligibility has continued for a period of six months, no further admissions to or, except for the purposes of this subsection, withdrawals from, the Fund shall be permitted until after the security has again become so eligible or has been eliminated from the Fund either through sale, distribution in kind or segregation in a liquidation account for the benefit rateably of all trusts and estates then participating in the Fund.

(6) No participation shall be withdrawn in part only unless the amount so withdrawn is equal to the then value of one or more full units. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 6 (3-6).

PARTICIPATION REGISTER

7. A register shall be maintained for each Fund, showing with respect to each participant,

(a) the date of each admission of trust moneys to the fund, the number of units allotted and the value at which each unit is allotted;

(b) the date of each withdrawal, the number of units redeemed, and the amount paid on redemption to the participant;

(c) the number of units currently held; and

(d) the share in any liquidating account. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 7.

PARTICIPATION CERTIFICATES

VALUATIONS

9.—(1) Not less frequently than once during each period of three months, the trust company shall determine the value of each Fund that it maintains and of the units of participation thereof.

(2) In the valuation of the investments of a Fund, the following rules shall be observed:

1. Securities listed on any stock exchange shall be valued at their closing sale prices on the valuation date, but, if no sale of a particular security has been reported for that day, the last published sale price or the average of the last recorded bid and asked prices, whichever is the more recent, shall be used, unless, in the opinion of the trust company, the value thus obtained may not fairly indicate the actual market value, in which case the trust company shall obtain from two members of the Stock Exchange a written estimate of the value of such security as of the valuation date, and shall use the average of such estimates.

2. Securities not listed on any stock exchange, except mortgages, shall be valued as of the valuation date either by taking the average between the most recently published bid and asked prices or by taking the average of quotations from two recognized dealers in the securities.

3. For the purposes of paragraphs 1 and 2, the trust company may rely, as sufficient evidence, upon reports of sale and bid prices and over the counter quotations, published in any newspaper of general circulation in the City of Toronto or in any recognized financial journal or report or quotation service or in the records of a stock exchange.

4. In respect of investments in mortgages, the trust company shall from time to time obtain a written appraisal as to the value of each mortgage and of the real estate securing the mortgage, but such appraisal shall be made by a registered real estate broker or other person, who may be an employee of the trust company, whom the company believes to be qualified to appraise real estate values in the vicinity in which such real estate is situated, and an appraisal may be used only for valuations made within the period of thirty calendar months next following the dates of the appraisal.

5. In respect of a stock where a dividend has been declared but has not been paid and the amount of such dividend has been considered as income under the provisions of the plan of operation of the Fund, the amount of such dividend shall be deducted from the price of the stock in determining its value unless such price is an ex-dividend price.

6. An investment purchased and awaiting payment against delivery shall be included for valuation purposes as a security held, and the cash accounts shall be adjusted by the deduction of the purchase price, including brokers' commissions and other expenses of the purchase.

7. An investment sold but not delivered pending receipt of proceeds shall be valued at the net sales price after deducting brokers' commissions and other expenses. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 9.

DISTRIBUTIONS OF INCOME

10.—(1) The income of a Fund and the apportionment thereof shall be determined at each valuation date.

(2) The income shall be distributed to participants not less frequently than quarter-yearly.

(3) For purposes of distribution to participants, the income may be computed, at the option of the trust company, either on the basis of income accrued or on the basis of income actually received.

(4) To facilitate the distribution of accrued but uncollected income, the cash principal of a Fund may be used to the extent necessary. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 10.

INVESTMENTS

11.—(1) The investments of a Fund shall be kept separate from the trust company's own property, and each investment shall be so earmarked in the books of the company as to show clearly the Fund to which it belongs, but any moneys of the Fund awaiting investment or distribution may be held on deposit in the savings department of the trust company subject to payment thereon by the company of interest computed at the current rate and in the same manner as in the case of ordinary deposits.

(2) The total investment of a Fund in,

(a) guaranteed investment certificates of any trust company;

(b) debentures of any loan company; or

(c) bonds of, or guaranteed by, any municipal corporation, shall not exceed in each case 10 per cent of the book value of the Fund. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 11 (1, 2).

(3) The total investment of the Fund in securities of or guaranteed by any one person, other than the obligations referred to in subsection 2, shall not exceed 5 per cent of the book value of the Fund. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 11 (3); O. Reg. 300/68, s. 4.

(4) Subsections 2 and 3 do not apply to investments in obligations of or guaranteed by,

(a) the Government of Canada; or

(b) the government of any province of Canada.

(5) The total number of shares held by a Fund in any one class of shares of stock of any one corporation shall not exceed 5 per cent of the number of such shares outstanding, and, if the trust company maintains more than one Fund, no investment shall be made that would cause the aggregate investment for all the Funds in any one class of shares of stock of any one corporation to exceed such limitation. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 11 (4, 5).

(6) Not less than 40 per cent of the value of the assets in a Fund shall be maintained in cash and readily marketable securities. O. Reg. 300/68, s. 5.

13.—(1) The trust company shall, at least once during each period of twelve months, cause an audit of each of its Funds to be made by a qualified accountant or accountants approved for such purpose by the Registrar.

(2) The report of the audit shall include a list of the investments comprising each Fund at the end of the period covered by the audit, the book value thereof as at the end of the period covered by the audit, a statement of purchases, sales and any other investment changes and of revenue and disbursements since the last audit, and appropriate comments as to any investments in default as to payment of principal and interest.

(3) The reasonable expenses of an audit made by an independent accountant or accountants shall be paid out of the Fund and charged to principal and income in such proportion as the trust company deems proper.

(4) The trust company shall file a copy of the report of the audit with the Registrar.

(5) The trust company shall, without charge, send a copy of the report of audit to any co-trustee of a participant, and shall also without charge, upon request, send a copy of the report to any beneficiary of a participant. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 13.

INSPECTION OF RECORDS

14. The registrar of participations and all accounting records pertaining to a Fund for the period after that covered by the last accounts passed by a court shall be open to inspection during the regular business hours of the trust company on the eighth, ninth and tenth business days of the company next following any valuation date, by any co-trustee or beneficiary of a participant. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 14.

ADMINISTRATION FEES AND EXPENSES

15.—(1) A Fund shall be deemed not to be a separate trust fund on which commissions or other compensation is allowable, and no trust company maintaining a Fund shall make any charge against it for the management thereof nor pay a fee, commission or compensation out of the Fund for management but may reimburse itself out of a Fund for all reasonable expenses incurred by it in the administration of the Fund. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 15 (1).

(2) In any trust or estate that has moneys participating in a Fund, the trust company is entitled to the management fee or other compensation to which it would otherwise be entitled in respect of such moneys. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 414, s. 15 (2); O. Reg. 300/68, s. 6.

(b) during each of the second and third years of the term of the licence, a sum averaging at least $1000 a square mile or fraction thereof, in geophysical exploration or drilling in the area specified in the licence. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 440, s. 6.

7.—(1) Where, during the third year of the term of the licence, the licensee is prevented by weather or water conditions from carrying out the geophysical exploration or drilling required by this Regulation, or any additional geophysical exploration or drilling that may be necessary to prove the presence of natural gas or petroleum in commercial quantities, the Minister may, upon application in writing within thirty days following the end of the third year of the term of the licence, extend the licence for a period not exceeding five months.

(2) The months from November to March, both inclusive, shall not be computed in the extended period.

(7) Where a lease is issued under this section for lands contained in a licence, subsection 2 of section 28 applies to the fees and expenditures in respect of the licence in the same manner as if the lands were surrendered. O. Reg. 125/62, s. 1.

23.—(1) Where the Minister has accepted an application for a lease and the applicant has complied with section 6, the Minister shall issue to the applicant a lease authorizing the lessee to prospect for and recover natural gas and petroleum.

(2) The lease shall be in Form 2.

(6) The amount of royalty payable in any year shall be reduced by the amount of rent paid for that year. O. Reg. 53/65, s. 2 (2).

(7) Where the production or distribution of natural gas is restricted or limited under The Energy Act, the Minister may reduce or suspend the rental payable by the lessee in such manner and to such extent as he deems expedient.

The direction of the surveyed lines shall be shown by astronomical bearings, referred to the reference meridian passing through the centre of the township but, where a mining claim is not situated in a township, the bearings shall be referred to a reference meridian through the point of observation. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 445, s. 8.

9.—(1) In every group, or connected group of mining claims, six or more in number, whether surveyed at one time, or at different times by the same surveyor, an astronomical observation for azimuth shall be taken and, where the group exceeds twelve in number, a check observation for azimuth shall be made for each multiple of twelve claims.

(2) Where the group is less than six in number, the bearings may be referred to a previously surveyed line, claim or parcel of record in the Department, if the bearings shown are reliable. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 445, s. 9.

10. The surveyor shall mark out the boundaries of the mining claim by blazing the adjacent trees on three sides, one blaze on the face of the tree on the direction of the line and one blaze on each face of the tree at right angles to the direction of the line, the lines being well cut out and straight between survey posts. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 445, s. 10.

11.—(1) The surveyor shall plant at each angle of the claim a metal post not less than five-eighths of an inch square or three-quarters of an inch in diameter and not less than eighteen inches in length, with the number of the post permanently marked thereon together with the recorded number and letter or letters of the claim and shall also plant at each metal post a durable wooden post, not less than four inches square and thirty-six inches in length, marked in the same manner as the metal post.

(2) Where, owing to physical features, it is not practicable to plant a post at the true corner of the claim, a witness post shall be planted in lieu thereof and marked "W.P." together with the number of the post, recorded number of the claim and letters pertaining thereto. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 445, s. 11.

12. The marks on the survey posts and bearing trees shall be made in a neat and workmanlike manner with a sharp knife or scribing iron. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 445, s. 12.

13. Where available, each survey corner shall be referenced by two bearing trees, preferably at right angles to the survey post, and the measurements shall be made from the blaze to the survey post. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 445, s. 13.

14. The survey of a mining claim shall be connected with a previously surveyed claim, parcel, line or traverse post of record in the Department if the survey is within a radius of two miles, and in other cases, the surveyor shall select a prominent point at which to plant a permanent post. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 445, s. 14.

DATA TO BE SHOWN ON FIELD NOTES

16.—(1) Survey posts, bearing trees, observations, scale, north point, adjacent claims surveyed or unsurveyed, streams, roads, power or telephone lines, surveyed lines and the connections made thereto and the high-water mark shall be shown on field notes, and traverses shall be made of all lakes and rivers situated within the limit of the mining claim, and all traverse lines shall be shown in a good quality of vermilion ink and the measurements and bearings of the traverse and boundary lines shall be shown in black india ink.

(2) The title of the field notes shall mention each claim number surveyed and the township or area, together with the district in which the claim is situated.

(3) The following certificate shall appear on the field notes:

"I hereby certify that I have carefully examined the ground included in Mining Claim No....., surveyed by me and have otherwise made all reasonable investigations in my power to ascertain if there was any other subsisting claim conflicting therewith and I certify that I found no trace or indication and have no knowledge or information of any such claim except as follows: (if none, so state; if any, give particulars)."

DUTY OF SURVEYOR BEFORE COMMENCING SURVEY

20.—(1) Except as herein provided, no survey shall be made within a distance of fifteen miles in a straight line from the recorder's office without the written consent or direction of the recorder or of the Commissioner, or of the Minister or Deputy Minister, and, before proceeding with the survey, the surveyor shall examine the application and sketch or plan of the claim or certified copies thereof.

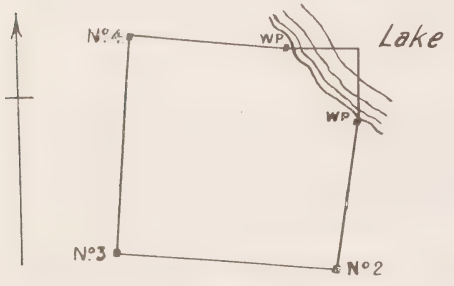
(2) Where a claim is fifteen miles or more in a straight line from the recorder's office, and where the surveyor has not applied for the consent or direction under subsection 1, the surveyor may survey the claim, but, before he signs the certificate required by section 16, he shall in all other respects follow the procedure under subsection 1 and shall, in addition to his survey, file with the recorder a sworn statement setting out the circumstances under which the survey was made without the consent referred to in subsection 1. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 445, s. 20.



METHOD OF SURVEY

21.—(1) In surveying a mining claim in unsurveyed territory, the surveyor shall establish the boundaries of the claim by running straight lines from the No. 1 post at the northeast angle of the claim to the No. 2 post at the southeast angle thereof, from the No. 2 post to No. 3 post at the southwest angle thereof and from No. 3 post to No. 4 post at the northwest angle thereof, and from No. 4 post to No. 1 post and, where two mining claims are shown as having a common boundary in whole or in part, the boundary of the prior subsisting claim governs.

(2) In establishing the boundaries of a mining claim in unsurveyed territory where, owing to the nature and conformation of the ground, the true angle or angles of the claim could not be posted, and the position thereof is indicated by witness posts as illustrated in each of the diagrams hereto, the surveyor shall follow the method described in the note to the diagram, having due regard to prior subsisting claims and to subsection 2 of section 119 of the Act.

(3) The posts as shown by the diagrams hereto are located on the ground by survey. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 445, s. 21.

3. A driver of a motorized snow vehicle approaching an intersection shall yield the right of way to a vehicle or motorized snow vehicle that has entered the intersection from a different highway and when a motorized snow vehicle and vehicle or motorized snow vehicle enter an intersection from different highways at approximately the same time, the driver on the left shall yield the right of way to the vehicle or motorized snow vehicle on the right. O. Reg. 360/68, s. 3.

(2) The driver referred to in subsection 1 shall enter or cross at an angle of approximately 90 degrees to the direction of the roadway. O. Reg. 360/68, s. 5.

6.—(1) The driver of a motorized snow vehicle intending to turn to the right into an intersecting highway shall approach such intersection and turn as closely as practicable to the right curb or edge of the roadway.

(2) The driver of a motorized snow vehicle within an intersection intending to turn to the left across the path of any vehicle or motorized snow vehicle approaching from the opposite direction shall not make such left turn until he has afforded a reasonable opportunity to the driver of such other vehicle or motorized snow vehicle to avoid a collision.

(3) The driver of a motorized snow vehicle intending to turn to the left into an intersecting highway at an intersection where traffic is permitted to move in both directions on each highway entering the intersection shall approach such intersection as closely as practicable to the centre line of the highway and the left turn shall be made by passing to the right of such centre line where it enters the intersection, and upon leaving the intersection by passing to the right of the centre line of the highway then entered.

(4) The driver of a motorized snow vehicle intending to turn to the left from a highway designated for use of one-way traffic into an intersecting highway on which traffic is permitted to move in both directions shall approach the intersection as closely as practicable to the left curb or edge of the roadway and on entering the intersection shall pass to the right of and as closely as practicable to the centre line of the highway being entered where it enters the intersection.

O. Reg. 360/68, s. 6.

7.—(1) The driver of a motorized snow vehicle upon a highway before turning to the left or right at any intersection or into a private road or driveway or from one lane for traffic to another lane for traffic or to leave the roadway shall first see that such movement can be made in safety, and if the operation of any other vehicle or motorized snow vehicle may be affected by such movement shall give a signal plainly visible to the driver of such other vehicle or motorized snow vehicle of the intention to make such movement.

(2) The driver of a motorized snow vehicle parked or stopped on the highway before setting the motorized snow vehicle in motion shall first see that the movement can be made in safety, and, if in turning the motorized snow vehicle the operation of any other vehicle or motorized snow vehicle may be affected by such movement, shall give a signal plainly visible to the driver of such other vehicle or motorized snow vehicle of the intention to make such movement.

8. No driver of a motorized snow vehicle upon a highway shall turn the motorized snow vehicle so as to proceed in the opposite direction when,

(c) upon an approach to or near the crest of a grade where the motorized snow vehicle cannot be seen by the driver of another vehicle or motorized snow vehicle approaching from either direction within 500 feet; or

11. No motorized snow vehicle shall be driven to the left of the centre of a roadway designed for one or more lines of traffic in each direction, when approaching the crest of a grade or upon a curve in the roadway or within 100 feet of a bridge, viaduct or tunnel where the driver's view is obstructed within such distance as to create a hazard in the event another vehicle or motorized snow vehicle might approach from the opposite direction, but this section does not apply to a highway designated for the use of one-way traffic or to a highway divided into clearly marked lanes where there are more such lanes for traffic in one direction than in the other direction. O. Reg. 360/68, s. 11.

15.—(1) No person shall park, stand or stop a motorized snow vehicle on a roadway,

(a) when it is practicable to park, stand or stop the motorized snow vehicle off the roadway; or

(b) when it is not practicable to park, stand or stop the motorized snow vehicle off the roadway unless a clear view of the motorized snow vehicle and of the roadway for at least 400 feet beyond the motorized snow vehicle may be obtained from a distance of at least 400 feet from the motorized snow vehicle in each direction upon the highway.

(2) Subsection 1 does not apply to a roadway within a city, town or village, and the provisions of subsection 1 with respect to parking, standing or stopping do not apply to a portion of a roadway in respect of which a by-law passed by the council of a township or county or by the trustees of a police village prohibiting or regulating parking, standing or stopping on the roadway, as the case may be, is in force.

1. INTRODUCTION

This system is in substantial conformity with the Classification of Accounts prepared by the Canadian Gas Association and with the systems prescribed for use by gas companies elsewhere in Canada.

Inclusion of any item or account in this prescribed system of accounts does not necessarily imply the Board's acceptance of any expenditure or procedure suggested by the use of such an account.

2. RECORDS

The books to be used in recording transactions shall conform to accepted accounting procedure and every account in the general ledger, in which transactions are assembled for balance sheet purposes, shall bear reference to the account number and title under which it is classified. However, each gas company may, in addition, use a different system of account numbers, provided the account numbers herein described appear in the descriptive headings of the ledger accounts.

The records shall be kept in such form as to permit determination of the correctness of the accounting, and with sufficient particularity to show fully the facts pertaining to all entries made in the accounts.

Where full information is not recorded in the general books, the entries therein shall be supported by other records in which full details shall be shown. The general book entries shall contain sufficient reference to the detailed records to permit ready identification, and the detailed records shall be filed in such manner as to be readily accessible for examination by representatives of the Board. Companies are at liberty to subdivide or, with the consent of the Board, condense the general and primary accounts here given.

3. PURPOSE OF ACCOUNT GROUPING

The accounts of this classification are grouped so as to show the results of the group of which they form a part. The plant accounts are classified according to the various types of plant included therein. The operating and maintenance accounts are classified according to the function which benefited from the expense and may be further subdivided by responsibility.

Balance sheet accounts (account No. series 100 and 200)

The balance sheet and related accounts are designed to disclose the company's financial condition at the balance sheet date, by showing the assets, liabilities, capital stock and related items and the balance of retained earnings (or deficit).

Income accounts (account Nos. 300 to 349 inclusive)

The accounts in this grouping summarize revenues and expenses and are designed to show for each fiscal year the total amount of money that the company has earned for services, the cost of rendering services, the accrued return on investments, and the amount of accrued taxes and accrued charges for the use of money or property of others. Revenues and expenses of non-gas operations shall be included in the accounts provided for this type of revenue and expense. The net balance of income (or loss) shall be transferred to retained earnings.

Retained earnings accounts (account Nos. 350 to 399 inclusive)

The accounts in this grouping form a connecting link between the income accounts and retained earnings (or deficit) as stated on the balance sheet and provide an analysis of changes in retained earnings (or deficit) balance during the year.

In addition to this final summarization of regular financial results, the group also provides accounts to disclose the results of unusual items which in aggregate are so material in relation to net income of the year that inclusion therein would impair its significance and be misleading, and which are of a nature not clearly identifiable with the company's typical business transactions.

Plant accounts (account No. series 400)

The accounts in this grouping are designed to classify the company's plant used in gas operations.

The physical plant not used in gas operations is provided for in a balance sheet account for other plant. The plant records shall be so maintained as to show separately expenditures for each addition and replacement project.

Operating revenue accounts (account No. series 500)

The accounts in this grouping are designed to classify all revenue which the company is entitled to receive from gas operations and from operations incident thereto.

Operating and maintenance accounts (account No. series 600, 700 and 800)

The accounts in these groupings are designed to classify the expenses of operating and maintaining plant, property and equipment in service and the cost of gas purchased and the cost of gas used in connection with gas operations.

Within the operating and maintenance accounts are separate groups of accounts for each function, such as Gas Supply, Transmission, Distribution, General and Administrative to facilitate the preparation of statements required for these operations.

Clearing accounts (account No. series 900)

The accounts in this group include expenditures relating to operations, maintenance and construction, which cannot be conveniently distributed directly to a particular expense or plant account. The Company may at its option use other clearing accounts in addition to those contained in this classification. Amounts charged to these accounts shall be accumulated and then charged out on an equitable basis. Balances in clearing accounts shall be substantially cleared not later than the end of the fiscal year unless balances held therein relate to a future period.

4. ACCOUNT DESCRIPTIONS

Lists of "examples" or "components" appearing in the text of the accounts or elsewhere herein are for the purpose of more clearly indicating the application of the prescribed accounting. The lists are intended to be representative, but not exhaustive. The appearance of an item in a list warrants the inclusion of the item only when the text also indicates inclusion, inasmuch as the same item frequently appears in more than one list. The proper entry in each instance must be determined by the texts of the accounts.

5. SUBMISSION OF QUESTIONS

Since uniformity of accounting by gas companies in Ontario is a basic reason for this system of accounts, companies shall submit all questions of doubtful interpretation of the accounting rules to the Board for determination.

6. PLANT ACQUIRED OR CONSTRUCTED

The primary plant accounts shall record the cost to acquire or construct gas plant, except as otherwise provided in these instructions. If consideration given for such plant is other than cash, the cash equivalent shall be charged to the applicable accounts and sufficient details of the actual consideration shall be retained to provide for identification.

Where the company purchases all or part of the existing facilities of a non-affiliated gas company, the cost to acquire gas plant shall be distributed to the accounts, unless the Board determines that a portion of the acquisition cost is not properly includible as gas plant. Such amounts shall then be included in account No. 104, "Gas Plant Acquisition Adjustments". If the facilities are purchased from an affiliated company, both the cost to the affiliated company and the accumulated depreciation to the date of acquisition shall be recorded in the company's books.

Where, at the time this system of accounts becomes applicable to a gas company, any part of the plant is recorded at redetermined values rather than at cost, the company may continue to so record such property until the Board directs that all or part of the difference between cost and redetermined value be transferred to account No. 107, "Other Gas Plant Adjustments". Whenever the Board excludes from the rate base any of the difference, such exclusion shall be a sufficient direction for a corresponding transfer from the Gas Plant Accounts to account No. 107, "Other Gas Plant Adjustments".

If the plant is constructed by or for the company, the cost to be recorded shall include the cost of labour, material and supplies, special machine and heavy work equipment service, transportation, contract work, insurance, injuries and damages, privileges, overhead charged to construction and interest during construction. These items of cost are defined below.

Cost of labour includes the amount paid for labour, (including fringe benefits) to the company's own employees. When employees are specifically assigned to construction work, their pay, while thus engaged, shall be included in the cost of the work. No charge shall be made to primary plant accounts for the pay of employees whose services in connection with construction are merely incidental, except as provided for in cost of overhead charged to construction.

The travelling and other incidental expenses of employees shall be distributed in accordance with distribution of the pay of such employees.

Cost of material and supplies includes the purchase price of material and supplies less trade discounts realized, and including cost of small tools, ad valorem taxes, inspection, transportation and loading; where appropriate, a suitable proportion of stores expenses.

In charging the plant accounts with material and supplies used, proper allowance shall be made for the value of unused portions and other salvage, the material recovered from temporary pipe scaffolding and other temporary structures used in construction, and small tools recovered and usable for other purposes.

Cost of special machine and heavy work equipment service includes the cost of labour, material and supplies, depreciation and other expenses incurred in maintaining and operating power shovels, scrapers, pile drivers, dredges, ditchers, material loaders and other labour-saving machines; also amounts paid to others for rent and maintenance of such machines. It does not include the cost of small tools and other individual items of small value or short life which are included in the cost of material and supplies.

When a construction project necessitates the purchase of equipment to be used exclusively therein until its work on the project is completed, the cost of such equipment shall be included in the accounts representing the cost of the work and no charge shall be made to expenses for depreciation on such equipment while the cost remains so charged. The amount realized from any subsequent sale, or the appraised value of equipment retained after the completion of the work for which it was purchased, shall be credited to the accounts charged with its cost. The appraised value of such equipment retained shall be debited to the appropriate primary account, and thereafter, for the purposes of accounting, such appraised value shall be considered as the cost of the equipment.

Cost of transportation includes the cost of transporting men, materials and supplies, special machine outfits and appliances and tools for construction purposes. The cost of the transportation of construction material to the point where material is received by the company shall be included, so far as practicable, as a part of the cost of such material.

Cost of contract work includes amounts paid for work performed under contract by other companies or individuals.

Cost of insurance, injuries and damages includes that portion of premiums incurred for insuring plant and personnel during construction, also the charges for protection against fire and wilful destruction and the cost of injuries to persons, damage to property of others and damages to plant incident to construction. Insurance recovered shall be credited to the accounts chargeable with the expenditures necessary to restore the damaged plant. The injuries and damages incident to the removal of the old structures or parts thereof shall be charged to the account recording retirement costs.

Cost of privileges includes compensation for temporary privileges such as the use of public property or streets, in connection with construction work.

Cost of overhead charged to construction includes engineering, supervision, administrative salaries and expenses, construction engineering and supervision, legal expenses, taxes and other similar items. The assignment of overhead costs to particular jobs or units shall be on the basis of a reasonable allocation of actual costs. The records supporting the entries for overhead charged to construction costs shall be maintained so as to show the total amount for each element of overhead for the year and the basis of distribution.

Cost of interest during construction may include the cost to the company for the use of funds for the purposes of construction, whether or not long term debt has been incurred. The basis of calculation of cost shall be as outlined in account No. 324, "Interest During Construction (Credit)".

Contributions or grants in cash, services or property from governments or government agencies, corporations, individuals, and others for contributions in aid of construction shall be applied as a reduction of the primary plant accounts to which they refer, if not recorded separately in account No. 299, "Contributions and Grants".

Date devoted to service

On the date the plant is devoted to service, the company shall cease to capitalize interest on such plant as is complete and in service and from that date it shall compute and charge to expenses or other appropriate accounts an amount representing depreciation as determined under section 10 of these instructions. Operating revenues received and operating expenses incurred after the date devoted to public service shall be included in the appropriate operating revenue and expense accounts.

Work order and property record system required

(A) Each utility shall record all construction and retirements of utility plant by means of work orders or job orders. Separate work orders may be opened for additions to and retirements of utility plant, or retirements may be included with the construction work order, provided, however, that all items relating to the retirements shall be kept separate from those relating to construction and provided further that any maintenance costs involved in the work shall likewise be segregated.

(B) Each utility shall keep its work order system so as to show the nature of additions to or retirements of utility plant, the total cost thereof, the source or sources of costs, and the utility plant account or accounts to which charged or credited. Work orders covering jobs of short duration may be cleared monthly.

(C) Each utility shall maintain records in which, for each plant account, the amounts of the annual additions and retirements are classified so as to show the number and cost of the various retirement units or other appropriate record units included therein.

7. ADDITIONS

Additions are increases in gas plant through purchase or construction of additional plant and/or replacement of existing plant. The cost of additions to or replacement of gas plant shall be charged to the appropriate plant account.

Description of typical elements of construction are referred to in General Instructions, Section 6, "Plant Acquired or Constructed". All expenditures relevant to new construction are capitalized. After the completion of initial construction, only the costs directly connected to additions or replacements of plant are capitalized.

For the purpose of avoiding undue refinement in accounting for additions and replacements of gas plant, all property charged within the plant accounts shall be considered as consisting of Plant Units and Minor Items of Plant.

Plant units—Each company shall use its own list of plant units, such lists to be filed with and subject to the approval of the Board. A plant unit is not necessarily a complete structure but may be part of a complete structure where such a part is a physically distinct part of the structure, and the amount of money involved is material. It is contemplated that the list of plant units will be revised and amended from time to time as experience and conditions warrant.

Plant units shall be accounted for in the following manner:

Additions—The cost of a plant unit shall be charged to the appropriate plant account.

Retirements—The ledger value of the plant unit shall be credited to the appropriate plant account.

Replacements—The ledger value of the original plant unit shall be credited to the appropriate plant account, and the cost of the replacement shall be charged to the appropriate plant account.

Minor items of plant are the associated parts or items composing a plant unit, and shall be accounted for in the following manner:

Additions—The cost of a minor item of plant which did not previously exist shall be charged to the appropriate plant account unless excluded therefrom by the minimum rule.

Retirements—The ledger value of a minor item of plant shall be credited to the appropriate plant account. If, however, the ledger value of the minor item retired and not replaced will be accounted for on the retirement of the plant unit with which it is associated, no adjustment shall be made to the plant accounts when such minor item is retired.

Replacements—The cost of a minor item of plant shall be charged to the appropriate expense account.

The minimum rule is intended for accounting convenience to provide a dollar limit on the charging of costs of minor items of plant to plant accounts. When costs of such items are less than selected minimum dollar amounts, such costs shall be charged to the expense accounts. No change is to be made in the selected minimum dollar amounts except by approval of the Board.

Repairs made during plant changes—see General Instructions, Section 9, "Maintenance".

Relocation of pipe line—see General Instructions, Section 8, " Retirements"

Second-hand plant—When second-hand plant acquired (not previously owned by the company) is in such physical condition that it is necessary to make extensive repairs to bring it up to the standard required by the company, the cost of such repairs shall be included in the appropriate plant account.

Major renewals and repairs—When the cost of renewals to parts of a plant unit, exclusive of the cost of dismantling and/or repairing old parts reused exceeds fifty per cent of the replacement cost of a new plant unit of the kind and class as rebuilt at the time of rebuilding, the plant unit shall be considered as rebuilt.

The rebuilt plant unit shall be accounted for as an addition and the old plant accounted for as retired from service. The term "cost of renewals" means the cost of material (other than second-hand parts remaining in the rebuilt plant unit) plus the cost of labour used in the rebuilding process, exclusive of the expense of dismantling and repairing old parts reused.

The charge to the appropriate plant account for the rebuilt plant unit shall be the sum of (1) the value of the second-hand parts remaining in the rebuilt plant unit, appropriately valued and (2) the cost of labour and additional material applied; both exclusive of the expense of dismantling and repairing second-hand parts reused.

8. RETIREMENTS

(A) Depreciable plant—When a plant unit is retired from gas operations the ledger value thereof shall be eliminated by crediting the appropriate plant accounts. When plant comprising less than a plant unit is removed from service, no adjustment shall be made to the plant accounts if its value will be retired upon the retirement of the plant unit with which it is associated. If the plant being retired is classified as depreciable, the ledger value less the net salvage value and/or insurance, if any, recovered shall be charged to accumulated depreciation.

Ledger value is the amount at which property is carried in the plant account. In case the value of any portion of plant is not shown separately, the ledger value of that portion shall be its proportionate share of the value of the entire group in which the particular plant is included.

Salvage value represents the value of material recovered from plant retired. If sold, this value shall be the selling price. If retained, for use by the company and charged to account No. 150, "Material and Supplies—Gas", or other accounts of this classification, this value shall be the ledger value of the material. Net salvage value means the salvage value less removal costs. In a case where the insurance recovery and salvage exceeds the ledger value, and the amount of the excess is material, the total credit to the accumulated depreciation account shall not exceed the ledger value. Any such excess, if material, shall be credited to account No. 351, "Profit from Sale of Plant".

Ordinary retirements result from causes reasonably assumed to have been contemplated in prior depreciation provisions, and normally may be expected to occur when plant reaches the end of its expected service life. In the case of such a retirement, accumulated depreciation shall be charged with the ledger value and the cost of removal and credited with amounts realized for salvage and insurance. There is no charge or credit to income for an ordinary retirement. (See General Instructions, Section 10 (B), "Depreciation".)

Extraordinary retirements result from causes not reasonably assumed to have been anticipated or contemplated in prior depreciation or amortization provisions. Such causes include unusual casualties (fire, storm, flood, etc.), sudden and complete obsolescence, or unexpected and permanent shutdown of an operating assembly or plant. An extraordinary retirement results in a loss (or gain) to the extent that the net charges (or credits) would unduly deplete (or inflate) the accumulated depreciation or amortization accounts. A loss (or gain) is comprised of the difference between the plant ledger value plus cost of removal less salvage and insurance recoveries and the related depreciation or amortization determined in an equitable manner.

Losses as a result of an extraordinary retirement may be charged to account No. 355, "Loss from Sale or Retirement of Plant", or to account No. 171, "Extraordinary Plant Losses". Gains, if any, as a result of an extraordinary retirement shall be credited to account No. 351, "Profit from Sale of Plant", subject to the prior approval of the Board; otherwise, they shall be credited to account No. 171 to offset other losses, resulting from extraordinary retirements. However, any proceeds in excess of original cost of plant retired shall be credited to account No. 351, "Profit from Sale of Plant".

(B) Non-depreciable plant—When non-depreciable plant is no longer required for gas purposes but is retained by the company, its ledger value shall be transferred to account No. 110, "Other Plant". When non-depreciable plant is sold, the ledger value thereof shall be credited to the applicable plant account and any profit or loss, if material, shall be recorded in account No. 351, "Profit from Sale of Plant", account No. 355, "Loss from Sale or Retirement of Plant", or account No. 171, "Extraordinary Plant Losses", as applicable.

If the profit or loss on disposal of non-depreciable plant is immaterial, such profit or loss shall be recorded in account No. 319, "Other Income" or account No. 329, "Other Income Deductions", as applicable.

(C) Pipe relocations—Where a pipe line is relocated the part of the line changed shall be considered plant retired and the ledger value thereof shall be credited to the appropriate plant account. The new line shall be considered an addition and its cost charged to the appropriate plant account. The cost of such pipe line changes which involve less than a plant unit of line pipe shall be charged to expense.

Where a company's pipe line or any part thereof is located in accordance with an agreement, the terms of which may require the company to relocate all or part of its pipe line and the circumstances are such that the company has no reasonable alternative but to relocate a plant unit or more of line pipe and such relocation would be a replacement (as defined in General Instructions, Section 7) unless otherwise provided, the company may, with the approval of the Board, charge the cost of relocation to expenses of the period in which the work was done. Where such relocation results from action by a governmental authority it may be accounted for in a similar manner.

(D) Pipe replacements—Where the retired pipe is replaced with other pipe in the same location, the cost of opening and back-filling the trench, together with the cost of hauling, laying and connecting the pipe, and other costs of pipe line construction, shall be charged to the appropriate plant account. The cost of removing the retired pipe from the trench shall be accounted for as cost of recovering the salvage. The cost of reconditioning the line pipe not removed shall be accounted for as maintenance and not as retirements and replacements.

If the retired line pipe is not replaced in the same location, the cost of opening and back filling the trench from which the pipe is removed, together with the cost of removing the pipe, shall be accounted for as cost of recovering the salvage.

9. MAINTENANCE

The cost of repairs to be included in the maintenance accounts shall include the cost of inspecting to determine what repairs are necessary; also the cost of adjusting, repairing, or replacing parts, and the cost of inspecting, testing and running of parts to determine that the repairs were properly made and that the repaired items are ready for service.

When repairs are made to existing plant concurrent with a plant addition or replacement, the cost of new repair material, plus the labour cost actually incurred, shall be charged to the appropriate plant account. If such repairs do not include a plant addition or replacement, then the cost shall be charged to the expense account appropriate for repairs to the plant being repaired.

There shall be included in the cost of repairs, incidental costs such as the construction and removal of false work in connection with maintenance; the cost of relocating pipe line plant when retirement accounting for units of plant is not involved; the cost of repairing fences, sidewalks, driveways and streets within or adjacent to such grounds.

The elements of maintenance shall include labour, materials and supplies, special machine and heavy work equipment service, transportation, contract work, privileges, protection from casualties and injuries and damages, (as outlined in General Instructions, Section 6) for similar elements of cost of plant acquired or constructed. Royalties paid for patent rights on mechanical appliances used in repairs shall be included in the cost of repairs.

Equalization of maintenance expenses—The cost of maintaining plant shall be included in the appropriate primary accounts in the month in which the expense is incurred. In case the company adopts a budget or estimate, for all or part of the fiscal year, of expenses includible in one or more primary maintenance accounts, an equitable monthly proportion of the difference between the budgeted or estimated expenses and the actual expenses chargeable each month may be debited or credited to the appropriate expense accounts with contra entries in account No. 275, "Gas Cost and Maintenance Equalization". If certain primary accounts only are budgeted, the company's records shall show, for amounts included in the equalization reserve account, the amount of the equalization assignable to each such primary account.

10. DEPRECIATION

(A) There shall be charged monthly to account No. 303, "Depreciation", or other appropriate accounts and credited to the account for accumulated depreciation amounts which will allocate the service value of the plant over its estimated service life in a systematic and rational manner. The service value of the assets, for depreciation purposes shall be their cost or redetermined value where this is recorded instead of cost with the approval of the Board, less their estimated net salvage value. Net salvage value means the salvage value less removal costs. The service life is the period of time between the installation or acquisition of the plant and its retirement for accounting purposes. In determining the amount of the allocation, consideration may properly be given to pertinent factors such as variations in use, increasing obsolescence or inadequacy.

(B) The charges for depreciation shall be computed in conformity with the group system under the straight-line method or other methods approved by the Board. The group system contemplates that some part of the investment in a group of assets probably will be recovered through salvage realizations, and that probably there will be variations in the service lives of the assets constituting the group, even among assets of the same class. The depreciation provision determined for the group is a weighted average of the various individual expectancies of life and salvage for the respective assets in the group. It is not the intention of the classification to require the company to keep records of the accumulated depreciation of each unit of plant. However, for purposes of reporting to the Board, summaries shall be maintained so that the accumulated depreciation can be subdivided to show separately the amount applicable to each primary account or to each group of primary accounts comprised of plant which performs similar functions.

When the retirement or disposal of any individual asset in a group occurs under circumstances reasonably provided for through accumulated depreciation, it may be assumed such provision has been made. Thus, whether the period of service is less or greater than average, accumulated depreciation attributable to an asset at the time of retirement under such circumstances is equal to the cost, except for that portion reasonably assumed recoverable through salvage realization. Assets remaining in use after reaching the average life expectancy are not regarded as fully depreciated until actual retirement. (See Section 8 (A) of these General Instructions.)

(C) All primary plant accounts (with the exception of accounts in the 400 series for "Land" and account No. 458, "Base Pressure Gas") are classed as accounts covering assets which are depreciable. In addition, to the extent that account Nos. 401, "Franchises and Consents", 402, "Other Intangible Plant", or other similar accounts such as "Land Rights" contain items which are subject to recognizable loss in value, such items shall be depreciable.

(D) Except as herein otherwise provided, monthly depreciation charges under the straight-line method shall be computed by applying the annual percentage rate to the depreciation base as of the first of each month and dividing the result by twelve, or if the company obtains prior approval of the Board, by applying the annual percentage rate to the depreciation base at the beginning of the company year and dividing that result by twelve. The company may, at its option where the amount is material, compute depreciation charges commencing on the date the plant was actually transferred to service rather than the first of the month following transfer to service. A company which, at the effective date of this System of Accounts, is using a year-end depreciation base shall continue to do so until revised rates of depreciation are established after the company's next comprehensive depreciation study.

(E) A separate rate for each group of primary accounts or each primary account shall be used in computing depreciation charges. The rate so established may itself be a composite rate due to the different types of assets in the primary account. The rate shall be such as has been approved by the Board except that where no rate for each group of primary accounts or each primary account has previously been approved an interim rate as estimated by the company shall be used until approved by the Board.

(F) As soon as the information can be assembled the company shall file with the Board rates estimated to be appropriate for each primary account or each group of primary accounts covering depreciable plant. Non-depreciable plant shall not be included in calculating the rates or in applying them. These rates shall be based on the estimated service values and estimated service lives of the plant developed by a study of the company's history and experience and such engineering and other information as may be available with respect to future conditions. Such rates shall, for each primary account or group of primary accounts comprised of more than one class of plant, produce a charge for depreciation equal to the sum of the amounts that would otherwise be chargeable as depreciation for each of the various classes of plant included in such account or such group of accounts. The rates when filed shall be accompanied by a statement showing the bases therefor and the methods employed in their computation, and may be developed by the company by the method deemed most appropriate in the light of the company's retirement experience.

(G) After the effective date of this System of Accounts, records shall be maintained so that when plant is retired, details will be available to show the service life, cost of removal, and the proceeds from salvage of each class of depreciable plant.

The company shall be prepared at any time, upon direction of the Board, to compute and submit for its approval revised rates in cases where existing rates are deemed inapplicable.

(H) In the event rates approved by the Board, in the judgment of the company, become no longer applicable, the company shall in like manner file revised rates which in its judgment should be established. Where plant is acquired for which no rates have been approved, the company shall upon such acquisition, compile and submit to the Board appropriate estimates developed in accordance with the provisions of sub-paragraph (F) of these instructions.

(I) When the company wishes to change from depreciation accounting to amortization accounting in view of probable abandonment of plant, the approval of the Board is required. (See account No. 106, "Accumulated Amortization—Gas Plant".)

11. INSURANCE

Insurance costs shall be charged to account No. 723, "Insurance" unless the costs are incurred in connection with construction, employee benefits or charged to clearing accounts. Insurance costs relative to construction of pipe line facilities shall be charged pro rata to the plant accounts. Insurance costs relative to employee benefits shall be charged to account No. 725, "Employee Benefits". Amounts recovered from such insurance shall be credited to the account or accounts charged with the related loss.

Account No. 723, "Insurance" shall also be charged with estimated amounts in lieu of commercial insurance premiums, if the company elects to create and maintain reserves for self-insurance. A schedule of risks covered by self-insurance shall be kept, showing the character of risk and the rates used to compute the estimated charges. Such rates shall be reasonable in the circumstances. Claims paid, damages suffered, repairs made, or loss because of plant retired, when covered by the self-insurance schedule, shall be charged to the insurance reserve. To the extent that the loss is not covered by the insurance reserve, such loss shall be charged to the appropriate expense account.

If the company reinsures self-carried risks with a commercial insurance company, premiums for such policies shall be debited to the insurance reserve and recoveries under the policies shall also be credited thereto.

12. FUNDS, RESERVES AND APPROPRIATIONS

When certain assets such as cash and securities have been set aside for a specific purpose, such assets shall be included in account No. 122, "Sinking Funds", or account No. 123, "Miscellaneous Special Funds", as applicable. The company's contributions to these funds shall be appropriated from retained earnings or charged to expense and shall be credited to account No. 290, "Insurance Reserves", account No. 291, "Welfare and Pension Reserves", or account No. 292, "Injuries and Damages Reserves", as applicable.

Income from assets held in account No. 122, "Sinking Funds", and account No. 123, "Miscellaneous Special Funds", shall be credited to account No. 316, "Income from Sinking and Other Funds". When it is required by the trust deed or other similar agreements that the income be retained in specific funds, cash and/or securities shall be transferred to the fund applicable. Where such income must be added to the fund, the company shall charge account No. 329, "Other Income Deductions", and credit the appropriate reserve account.

Profits and losses from the sale of assets held in account No. 122, "Sinking Funds", and account No. 123, "Miscellaneous Special Funds", shall be accounted for in the same manner as the income from assets held in these accounts and indicated in the preceding paragraphs.

13. SECURITIES OWNED

The investment in securities by the company shall be recorded in the respective accounts at cost at the time of acquisition, excluding amounts paid for accrued interest and dividends receivable.

Temporary cash investments—When temporary cash investments with a short term fixed maturity date are purchased at a discount or premium, such discount or premium may be amortized over the remaining life of the securities by periodical debits or credits to the account in which the cost of the securities is recorded with corresponding credits or debits to account No. 314, "Income from Investments". If the amount to be amortized is not material, the company may write off the total discount or premium at one time.

Profits and losses on sales, or amounts required to provide allowances for the decrease in market value of temporary cash investments shall be recorded in account No. 314, "Income from Investments", where minor and to account No. 352, "Profit from Sale of Investments" or account No. 356, "Loss from Sale of Investments", where material.

Other investments—When securities with a fixed maturity date, other than temporary cash investments are purchased at a discount or premium, such discount or premium may be amortized over the remaining life of the securities by periodical debits or credits to the account in which the cost of the securities is recorded with corresponding credits or debits to account No. 314, "Income from Investments". If the amount to be amortized is not material, the company may write off the total discount or premium at one time.

No amortization entries shall be recorded in respect of discount on securities held as investments unless there is reason to believe the securities will be disposed of at a sum equal to par, or par will be collected at maturity.

With respect to the company's investment in securities, the company shall be governed by recognized accounting principles in writing down their ledger value to reflect anticipated loss in value, and may write them off entirely if there is no reasonable prospect of realizing any amount therefrom. Fluctuations in market value should not be recorded. However, major decreases in market value should be provided for when they become apparent.

A company may provide for decrease in the value of securities owned and recorded in account No. 132, "Temporary Cash Investments", account No. 120, "Investments in Affiliated Companies", or account No. 121, "Other Long Term Investments". (See account No. 126, "Allowance for Loss in Value of Investments" and account No. 132, "Temporary Cash Investments".)

The amount of the adjustment to the investment in a controlled company (as defined under General Instructions, Section 18) shall be charged to account No. 315, "Income from Investments in Affiliated Companies" or if the amount of the adjustment is unusually large, the adjustment shall be charged to account No. 359, "Other Charges".

When losses have previously been provided for in the manner prescribed in the previous paragraph and such losses are subsequently reduced by profitable years, the company shall adjust the charges of previous years by taking into income the corresponding credits in respect of the profits earned. Such profit shall be credited to account No. 315, "Income from Investments in Affiliated Companies" or account No. 354, "Other Credits", as may be appropriate.

14. SECURITIES ISSUED

For purposes of this classification of accounts, premium is the excess value of the consideration received from the issue or resale of securities over the par or stated value of the company long term debt or similar obligations; discount is the excess of the par or stated value over the value of the consideration; expenses comprise amounts paid to underwriters, brokers, salesmen and agents for marketing securities. Interest or dividends accrued are not to be included as part of either premium or discount. Separate ledger accounts shall be maintained for each class or subclass of securities such as stocks, bonds, or notes, with respect to which the issue or resale is at a premium or discount. Except as otherwise provided under "Cost of Interest During Construction" (see Section 6, "Plant Acquired or Constructed"), no discount or expenses in respect of long term debt shall be charged to or included in any account as part of the cost of acquiring plant, tangible or intangible, or as part of the cost of operation. Premiums on capital stock shall be entered in account No. 210, "Contributed Surplus".

Discounts and premiums on long term debt, fees and expenses paid to underwriters and brokers for marketing, and other expenses of an issue, shall be netted in account No. 170, "Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense", or account No. 270, "Unamortized Debt Premium", as applicable. Separate sub-accounts shall be maintained for discount, premium and expense applicable to each issue. The cost of issuing other long term debt shall be charged to account No. 170, "Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense", or to account No. 359, "Other Charges". If such amount is not material in relation to net income, then such amount may be charged to account No. 329, "Other Income Deductions".

The unamortized debt discount, premium and expense shall be amortized on an equitable basis over the life of the issue by monthly charges to account No. 321, "Amortization of Debt Discount, Premium and Expense".

When part of an issue is redeemed, other than being refunded, the portion of unamortized debt discount, premium and expense applicable to the debt redeemed shall be removed from the asset account No. 170, "Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense", or account No. 270, "Unamortized Debt Premiums", by a charge or credit to account No. 321, "Amortization of Debt Discount, Premium and Expense". If the amount is so large that its inclusion would unduly distort the income results for the period, it shall be charged or credited to retained earnings accounts.

Where any long term debt is refunded by the company before the original maturity date of the issue, the unamortized debt discount, premium and expense applicable to the debt refunded shall be charged or credited to income accounts either in the year of refunding, or over a period not exceeding the remainder of the original life of the issue retired. If the amount is so large that its inclusion would unduly distort the income results for the period, it shall be charged or credited to retained earnings accounts.

15. CURRENT ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

The accounts for current assets and current liabilities are comprised of amounts available for payment of current liabilities and amounts chargeable against current resources. Although not available for payment of current liabilities, material and supplies are also to be included as current assets. Obsolete repair parts and supplies for which there is no foreseeable use are not current assets, unless carried at their scrap value.

Current assets shall include only amounts the collection of which is reasonably anticipated within one year in the normal course of business, and such other assets as may properly be classified as current assets in accordance with generally accepted accounting practice. Items of current character but of doubtful value, previously credited to revenue, expense, or income accounts, shall be written down or written off by debit to the account or accounts previously credited except that uncollectible accounts receivable shall be charged to account No. 145, "Allowance for Doubtful Accounts", or account No. 728, "Other Administrative and General Expense", as applicable.

16. ACCRUED ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

If the effect of any transaction upon income of the period in which it occurs cannot be determined before the accounts are closed, the estimated asset or liability resulting therefrom shall be credited or charged to the appropriate balance sheet, revenue, expense, or income account according to the nature of the transaction. Companies shall indicate to the Board any material change in the practice of accounting for year-end accruals. Companies are not required to anticipate items which would not appreciably affect the accounts.

When an accrued asset or liability is finally determined, the estimate shall be adjusted through the respective accounts originally credited or debited. At any time, if a substantial error is found in an initial estimate of this sort, it shall be adjusted currently through the same accounts.

Adjustments arising during the current year which are applicable to prior years, shall be included in the same account which would have been charged or credited if the item had been taken up or adjusted in the year to which it pertained. When the amount of the adjustment is so material that its inclusion in the appropriate account for the current year would seriously distort the income for the current year, the amount of the delayed item may be credited to account No. 354, "Other Credits", or charged to account No. 359, "Other Charges", as may be appropriate.

17. CONTINGENT ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

Contingent assets and liabilities shall not be included in the body of the balance sheet statement, but, if significant, shall be shown in detail in a supplementary statement. Contingent assets are those the value of which is dependent upon the fulfillment of conditions regarded as uncertain. Contingent liabilities are those which may under certain conditions become obligations of the company, but are neither direct nor assumed obligations on the date of the balance sheet.

18. AFFILIATED COMPANIES

The term "affiliated companies" used in this classification of accounts includes subsidiary companies and holding companies.

(1) For the purposes of this classification a company shall be deemed to be a subsidiary of another company if,

(a) it is controlled by,

(i) that other company, or

(ii) that other company and one or more companies each of which is controlled by that other company, or

(iii) two or more companies each of which is controlled by that other company; or

(b) it is a subsidiary of a company which is that other company's subsidiary.

(2) For the purposes of this classification, one company shall be deemed to be affiliated to another company if one of them is the subsidiary of the other or both are subsidiaries of the same company or each of them is controlled by the same person.

(3) For the purposes of this classification, a company shall be deemed to be another's holding company if that other is its subsidiary.

(4) For the purposes of this classification, a company shall be deemed to be controlled by another company or person or by two or more companies, if shares of the first-mentioned company carrying more than 50 per cent of the voting rights are held, otherwise than by way of security only, by or for the benefit of such other company or person or by or for the benefit of such other companies.

100. GAS PLANT IN SERVICE

This account shall include the cost of plant, property and equipment (including that held under contract for purchase) in service at the date of the balance sheet.

This account shall also include the cost of improvements made to leased facilities, where such improvements are used in gas service and the company is not to be reimbursed by the lessor for such improvements.

When plant (including leased facilities) is retired from service, this account shall be credited with the ledger value of the plant retired and a like amount shall be concurrently charged to account No. 103, "Retirement Work in Progress". (See General Instructions, Section 8.)

The plant included in this account shall be classified according to the detailed accounts for such plant. The cost of improvements to leased facilities shall be maintained in subdivisions separate from those relating to owned plant.

NOTE : Improvements to facilities leased on a short term basis shall be included in account No. 179, "Other Deferred Charges".

101. GAS PLANT LEASED TO OTHERS

This account shall include the cost of gas plant owned by the utility, but leased to others as operating units or systems, where the lessee has exclusive possession.

The plant included in this account shall be classified according to the detailed accounts prescribed for gas plant in service and this account shall be maintained in such detail as though the plant were used by the Company in its operations.

102. GAS PLANT HELD FOR FUTURE USE

This account shall include the cost of plant owned and held for future use in gas service. There shall be included herein plant acquired but never used by the utility in gas service, but held for such service in the future, and plant previously used by the utility in gas service, but retired from such service and held pending its re-use in the future in gas service. This includes land and land rights held to ensure a future supply of natural gas.

The plant included in this account shall be classified according to the detailed accounts prescribed for gas plant in service and the account shall be maintained in such detail as though the plant were in service. Separate sub-accounts shall be maintained hereunder for each department for which plant is held for future use.

NOTE : Include in this account natural gas wells shut in after construction which have not been connected with the line; also, natural gas wells which have been connected with the line but which are shut in for any reason excepting seasonal excess capacity or government proration requirements or for repairs.

103. RETIREMENT WORK IN PROGRESS

This account shall include amounts concurrently credited to account Nos. 100, "Gas Plant in Service", 101, "Gas Plant Leased to Others" and 102, "Gas Plant Held for Future Use" in respect of gas plant retired from service.

It shall also be charged with all costs incurred on removal, demolition and dismantling of gas plant during the course of its retirement. Amounts recovered for salvage and insurance on gas plant retired shall be credited hereto.

When final costs of each retirement are established, the ledger value and the cost of removal less amounts recovered shall be transferred to:

account No. 105, "Accumulated Depreciation—Gas Plant" or account No. 106, "Accumulated Amortization—Gas Plant", as applicable.

104. GAS PLANT ACQUISITION ADJUSTMENTS

This account shall include the difference between the cost to the company of gas plant acquired by purchase, merger, amalgamation, consolidation, liquidation or otherwise, and the net amount approved by the Board to be properly includible in plant and accumulated depreciation accounts. (See General Instructions, Section 6.)

This account shall be subdivided to show the amounts applicable to gas plant in service, gas plant leased to others and gas plant held for future use.

The amounts recorded in this account with respect to each acquisition shall be amortized or otherwise disposed of as approved by the Board.

105. ACCUMULATED DEPRECIATION—GAS PLANT

This account shall be credited with the following:

(1) Amounts charged to account No. 303, "Depreciation", or to clearing accounts, for current depreciation expense.

(2) At the option of the Company, amounts charged to Retained Earnings for past accrued depreciation.

(3) At the option of the Company, subject to the determination by the Board that the amounts result from the recording of redetermined plant values, amounts for past accrued depreciation charged to account No. 216, "Excess of Redetermined Value of Plant over Depreciated Cost" instead of to Retained Earnings.

(4) Amounts of depreciation applicable to gas plant acquired as operating units or systems from an affiliated company. (See General Instructions, Section 6.)

(5) Amounts charged to account No. 171, "Extraordinary Plant Losses". (See Section 8 (A) of these General Instructions.)

At the time of retirement of depreciable gas plant this account shall be charged with the ledger value of the plant and the cost of removal, and shall be credited with amounts recovered for salvage and insurance. (See General Instructions, Section 8, "Retirements".)

This account shall be subdivided as follows:

(1) Accumulated depreciation—gas plant in service

(2) Accumulated depreciation—gas plant leased to others

(3) Accumulated depreciation—gas plant held for future use

For general ledger and balance sheet purposes, this account shall be regarded and treated as a composite reserve. However, for purposes of analysis, the company shall maintain subsidiary records in which the accumulated depreciation is subdivided into component parts corresponding to the gas plant accounts or groups of accounts comprised of plants which perform similar functions, showing in detail the current debits and credits. (See General Instructions, Section 10.)

106. ACCUMULATED AMORTIZATION—GAS PLANT

This account shall be credited with amounts concurrently charged to account No. 304, "'Amortization", when the utility must extinguish amounts carried in account Nos. 100, "Gas Plant in Service", 101, "Gas Plant Leased to Others", or 102, "Gas Plant Held for Future Use", relating to probable abandonment of all or a significant part of gas plant or severe permanent curtailment in operations. When there is a change from depreciation accounting to amortization accounting, the applicable balance in account No. 105, "Accumulated Depreciation —Gas Plant", shall be transferred to this account.

This account shall be charged at the time of retirement with the ledger value of the gas plant retired and the cost of removal less amounts recovered for salvage and insurance, and the difference between the accumulated amortization and the aforementioned amount in respect of such gas plant retired shall be credited or charged, as the case may be, to account No. 319, "Other Income" or account No. 329, "Other Income Deductions", as applicable. When the retirement results in an extraordinary loss, this amount shall be charged to account No. 355, "Loss from Sale or Retirement of Plant" or all or a portion of the loss may be charged to account No. 171, "Extraordinary Plant Losses". Where the retirement results in an extraordinary profit, this amount shall be credited to account No. 351, "Profit from Sale of Plant".

It is not required that balances in this account shall be broken down into component parts corresponding to the plant accounts but the account shall be subdivided as follows:

(1) Accumulated amortization—gas plant in service

(2) Accumulated amortization—gas plant leased to others

(3) Accumulated amortization—gas plant held for future use

107. OTHER GAS PLANT ADJUSTMENTS

(A) This account shall include the difference between the amount approved by the Board to be properly includible in plant and the book value of the gas utility plant at the effective date of the uniform system of accounts, to the extent that such difference is not properly includible in account No. 104, "Gas Plant Acquisition Adjustments".

(B) The amounts included in this account shall be classified in such a manner as to show the nature of each amount included herein, and shall be disposed of as the Board may approve or determine.

NOTE : The provisions of this account shall not be construed as approving or authorizing future recording of appreciation in the value of gas utility plant in the accounts.

(See General Instructions, Section 6, and account No. 216, "Excess of Redetermined Value of Plant over Depreciated Cost".)

108. ACCUMULATED AMORTIZATION—GAS PLANT ACQUISITION ADJUSTMENTS

This account shall be credited (or debited) with amounts which are includible in account No. 304, "Amortization", or such other account as the Board may determine, for the purpose of extinguishment of amounts charged or credited in account No. 104, "Gas Plant Acquisition Adjustments", where the amortization of account No. 104 is not being made by an immediate write-off of the account.

110. OTHER PLANT

This account shall include the cost of land, structures, equipment or other tangible or intangible plant owned by the utility, but not used in gas service and not properly includible in account Nos. 101, "Gas Plant Leased to Others", 102, "Gas Plant Held for Future Use" or 115, "Gas Plant Under Construction".

This account shall be subdivided so as to show the amount of plant used in operations which are nonutility in character but nevertheless constitute a distinct operating activity of the company and the amount of miscellaneous plant not used in operations. The records in support of each sub-account shall be maintained so as to show an appropriate classification of the plant.

111. ACCUMULATED DEPRECIATION—OTHER PLANT

This account shall be credited with amounts of depreciation concurrently charged to account No. 303, "Depreciation" to cover loss in service value of depreciable plant, the cost of which is included in account No. 110, "Other Plant". It shall also be credited with any amounts the company may charge to account No. 359, "Other Charges" in respect of past accumulated depreciation not provided for.

The company may, at the time of retirement of depreciable plant, charge this account with the ledger value of the plant retired and cost of removal, and credit it with the amounts recovered from salvage and insurance. Where the company does not follow this procedure in the retirement of other plant, then at the time of retirement this account shall be charged with the accumulated depreciation of the plant retired and profits or losses on the sale of such plant shall be included in account No. 319, "Other Income", or account No. 329, "Other Income Deductions" as applicable. If the profits or losses are material in relation to net income for the year they shall be included in account No. 351, "Profit from Sale of Plant", or account No. 355, "Loss from Sale or Retirement of Plant", as applicable.

112. ACCUMULATED AMORTIZATION—OTHER PLANT

This account shall be credited with amounts concurrently charged to account No. 304, "Amortization", when the utility must extinguish amounts carried in account No. 110, "Other Plant", relating to probable abandonment of all or a significant part of other plant or severe permanent curtailment in operations. When there is a change from depreciation accounting to amortization accounting, the applicable balance in account No. 111, "Accumulated Depreciation—Other Plant", shall be transferred to this account.

The company may, at the time of retirement of amortizable plant charge this account with the ledger value of the plant retired and cost of removal, and credit it with the amounts recovered from salvage and insurance. Where the company does not follow this procedure in the retirement of other plant then at the time of retirement this account shall be charged with the accumulated amortization of the plant retired and profits or losses on the sale of such plant shall be included in account No. 319, "Other Income", or account No. 329, "Other Income Deductions"as applicable. If the profits or losses are material in relation to net income for the year they shall be included in account No. 351, "Profit from Sale of Plant", or account No. 355, "Loss from Sale or Retirement of Plant", as applicable.

115. GAS PLANT UNDER CONSTRUCTION

This account shall include the cost of construction of gas plant, not completed or ready for service at the date of balance sheet, including the cost of land acquired for such projects (see notes B, D and F account No. 410, "Land") and of unapplied construction material and supplies located at point of use for the construction of new equipment and/or extensions. It shall also include taxes during construction and other elements of cost of such construction work. When any plant, the cost of construction of which has been included in this account, is completed and ready for service the cost thereof shall be credited to this account and charged to the primary plant accounts appropriate to the character of the plant.

NOTE : It is not required that this account shall include the cost of construction work which is placed in service as the work progresses.

116. OTHER PLANT UNDER CONSTRUCTION

This account shall include the cost of construction of plant other than that includible in account No. 115, "Gas Plant under Construction".

(d) ensuring that air is not escaping from the piping at any point after that pressure has remained constant for not less than fifteen minutes and while it is still constant without any additional air being forced in or a change occurring in the temperature of the piping greater than 5° F. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 471, s. 146.

155.—(1) After all fixtures have been connected to the piping, and the piping has been connected to the venting thereof, a final test shall be made of the drainage piping and venting thereof. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 471, s. 147 (1); O. Reg. 246/66, s. 68 (1).

(2) The test shall be made by,

(b) completely filling the pipes and vents with air by any convenient method;

(c) closing every vent stack, stack vent, soil stack and waste stack;

(d) adding into the piping and vents more air sufficient to build up an internal pressure equivalent to a 1-inch water column; and

(e) ensuring that no air is escaping from the piping or vents at any point after that pressure has been maintained constant for not less than fifteen minutes and while it is still constant. R.R.O. 1960, Reg. 471, s. 147 (2).

(g) "contractor" means a person who carries on the business of drilling or boring wells for water;

(h) "date of completion" means the date on which the well-construction equipment is removed from the site of a well;

(i) "flowing well" means a well that has a static water level above the surface of the ground;

(j) "static water level" means the level attained by water in or from a well when no water is being taken from the well;

(k) "water well record" means Form 7 duly completed;

(l) "well" means a hole made in the ground to obtain, locate or test in respect of water by any means other than by digging. O. Reg. 46/69, s. 1.

(i) the existence of an initial unfunded liability, or

(ii) the failure of the employer to make any payment as required by the terms of the plan or by the Act or this Regulation;

(d) "fully funded", when applied to a pension plan, means a pension plan that at any particular time has assets that will provide for the payment of all pension and other benefits required to be paid under the terms of the plan in respect of service rendered by employees and former employees prior to that time;

(e) "government" means Her Majesty in right of Ontario, an agent of Her Majesty, a municipality as defined in The Department of Municipal Affairs Act and a metropolitan municipality and the local boards thereof;

(f) "initial unfunded liability" means the amount by which on the 1st day of January, 1965, or the date on which the plan qualifies for registration, or subsequently as the result of an amendment, the assets are required to be augmented to ensure that the plan is fully funded;

(g) "provisionally funded", when applied to a pension plan, means a pension plan that at any particular time has not assets sufficient to make it fully funded but has made provision for special payments sufficient to liquidate all initial unfunded liabilities or experience deficiencies; and

(h) "special payment" means a payment or payments made to or under a pension plan for the purpose of liquidating an initial unfunded liability or experience deficiency in accordance with section 2. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 1.

2.—(1) An application for registration of a pension plan shall be in Form 1.

(2) Every pension plan submitted for registration shall include a provision for funding which shall set forth the obligation of the employer to contribute both in respect of the current service cost of the plan and in respect of any initial unfunded liabilities and experience deficiencies.

(3) The employer shall pay currently into any plan or fund providing pensions for his employees,

(a) all current service costs, including any contributions made by employees;

(b) where the plan has an initial unfunded liability, special payments consisting of equal annual amounts sufficient to liquidate such initial unfunded liability over a term not exceeding,

(i) in the case of an initial unfunded liability existing on the 1st day of January, 1965, in any pension plan established before that date, twenty-five years from that date, and

(ii) in the case of an initial unfunded liability resulting from an amendment to a pension plan made on or after the 1st day of January, 1965, or resulting from the establishment of a pension plan on or after the 1st day of January, 1965, fifteen years from the date of such amendment or establishment or the number of years to the anniversary of such date in 1989, whichever is the greater;

(c) where a pension plan has an experience deficiency, special payments consisting of equal annual amounts sufficient to liquidate such experience deficiency over a term not exceeding five years from the date on which the experience deficiency was determined.

(4) Payments in respect of current service shall be made not later than 120 days after the end of the fiscal year of the pension plan to which they relate.

(5) Where special payments are required, the amount of such payments required to be made in respect of any fiscal year of the plan shall be not less than the annual amount required to liquidate the initial unfunded liability during the balance of the applicable period specified in subsection 3, but where a fiscal year of the plan is subject to the Act and the regulations for less than twelve months, the amount required to be paid shall be proportionate to the number of months that the Act and the regulations apply. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 2 (1-5).

(6) Notwithstanding the terms of a pension plan where additional pension benefits are created on or after the 1st day of January, 1965 with respect to service prior to the date of an amendment to the pension plan or the establishment of the pension plan and such additional pension benefits are being funded by means of special payments, the administrator of the pension plan shall not, after the 1st day of January, 1969, transfer or withdraw funds from the pension fund to purchase annuities for retired, retiring or terminating members or other beneficiaries with respect to such additional pension benefits except to the extent that the aggregate amount of such funds transferred or withdrawn from the pension fund does not exceed the aggregate of the special payments made and the accruals thereon in respect of such additional pension benefits plus any surplus in the fund. O. Reg. 91/69, s. 1.

(7) A special payment shall be made not later than thirty days after the end of the fiscal year to which it applies.

(8) Where two or more special payments are made in respect of a fiscal year or special payments are made in advance or any surplus is allocated to the amortization of an initial unfunded liability or experience deficiency, the minimum annual amount of the special payments required to be paid with respect to the next and subsequent fiscal years shall be re-computed.

(9) Where an insured pension plan established before the 1st day of January, 1965 is funded by level premiums to retirement age for each individual member, it shall be deemed to meet the requirements of subclause i of clause b of subsection 3.

(10) Where a plan has an initial unfunded liability and the requirements with respect to special payments under this Regulation differ from those under the legislation or regulations of any designated province to which the plan is also subject, the Commission may permit an appropriate variation from the requirements of this section with respect to the special payments required.

(11) Unless otherwise provided in the plan, the fiscal year of a pension plan shall be deemed to be from the 1st day of January to the 31st day of December and, except on such basis as may be approved by the Commission, no fiscal year of a pension plan shall exceed twelve months.

(12) Subject to subsections 5 and 8, if the report of a person authorized by section 5 discloses a surplus in a pension plan, the amount of any future payments required to be made to the fund or plan may be reduced by the amount of such surplus.

(13) Where a pension plan is administered for the employees of a government, the special payments in respect of an initial unfunded liability existing on the 1st day of January, 1965 may be limited to the annual amount required to prevent any increase in such liability. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 2 (6-12).

3.—(1) Within sixty days after the date of establishment of the plan the employer shall submit a report of the person authorized by section 5 certifying,

(a) the estimated cost of benefits in respect of service in the first year during which such plan is registered and the rule for computing such cost in subsequent years up to the date of the next report;

(b) the initial unfunded liability, if any, for benefits under the pension plan as at the date on which the plan qualified for registration; and

(c) the special payments required to liquidate such initial unfunded liability in accordance with section 2. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 3 (1), amended.

(2) Where an insured pension plan is funded by level premiums extending not beyond the retirement age for each individual member, the report may certify the adequacy of the premiums to provide for the payment of all benefits under the plan in lieu of the matters required to be certified under clauses a, b and c of subsection 1. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 3 (2).

4.—(1) The employer in respect of a registered pension plan shall cause the plan to be reviewed and a report prepared by a person authorized by section 5 not more than three years after the date of the establishment of the plan and at intervals of not more than three years thereafter.

(2) The report shall certify,

(a) the estimated cost of benefits in respect of service in the next succeeding year and the rule for computing such cost in subsequent years up to the date of the next report;

(b) the surplus or the experience deficiency in the pension plan after making allowance for the present value of all special payments required to be made in the future by the employer as determined by previous reports; and

(c) the special payments which will liquidate any such experience deficiency over a term not exceeding five years.

(3) The employer shall file the report with the Commission upon its receipt together with such additional information as the Commission requires.

(4) Where the Commission is not satisfied that the report has been prepared in conformity with generally accepted principles of sound actuarial practice, the report shall be amended so as to be acceptable to the Commission. O. Reg. 91/69, s. 2.

5. The reports and certificates referred to in sections 3 and 4 and subsection 2 of section 9 shall be made by an actuary, except that reports and certificates in respect of,

(a) a pension plan under which all benefits are determined on a money purchase basis and purchased from an insurer on or before retirement;

(b) a pension plan underwritten by a contract or contracts with an insurance company, other than such a contract operating on a deposit administration or segregated fund principle;

(c) a pension plan underwritten by a contract or contracts issued under the Government Annuities Act (Canada); or

(d) a pension plan under which the solvency does not in the opinion of the Commission substantially depend on actuarial probabilities, may be made by an accountant or a person authorized by the insurance company or by the trust company, or by the Annuities Branch, Department of Labour (Canada) administering the plan. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 5.

6.—(1) The annual information return required under subsection 4 of section 18 of the Act shall be in Form 2 and shall be furnished by the employer to the Commission annually not later than six months following the end of the fiscal year of the pension plan.

(2) The employer shall certify in Form 2 that all contributions required with respect to the fiscal year have been paid into the pension plan. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 6.

7. Every pension plan shall be deemed to be solvent if it is fully funded or provisionally funded. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 7.

8. Upon application for registration of a pension plan having in Ontario and a designated province the number of members shown in column 1 of the following Table, and on submission of an information return in Form 2 respecting such plan, the employer shall pay the fee set opposite thereto in column 2.

9.—(1) Every pension plan filed with the Commission for registration shall be accompanied by a certified copy of the trust deed, insurance contract, by-law, collective agreement on pensions or other documents under which such plan is constituted.

(2) Where a registered pension plan or a relevant portion of any document under which the plan is constituted is amended, the employer shall immediately file with the Commission a copy of the amendment and such additional information as the Commission requires to determine if the plan as amended continues to qualify for registration, and in the case of an amendment that affects contributions or creates or changes an initial unfunded liability, the employer shall also file with the Commission a report similar to the report required by subsection 1 of section 3.

(3) The Commission may, at any time upon reasonable notice, require an employer to obtain and file such special reports as the Commission requires.

(4) Where the Commission does not accept a plan for registration or cancels a certificate of registration, the Commission shall state the reasons for rejection or cancellation in the notice sent to the employer under section 20 of the Act. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 9.

10.—(1) Every pension plan shall define the benefits provided by the plan, the method of determination and the payment of benefits, conditions for qualification for membership in the plan and the financial arrangements made to ensure provisional or full funding of benefits under the plan.

(2) The formula for the pension benefit for each year of future service shall be uniform, except to the extent that the Commission approves such increments in the formula as it considers reasonable. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 10.

11.—(1) Notwithstanding the terms of the plan, where a pension plan is terminated or wound-up, no part of the assets of the plan shall revert to the benefit of the employer until provision has been made for all pensions and other benefits in respect of service up to the date of such termination or winding-up to members of the plan and for all benefits to former employees, pensioners, dependants and estates, and the provisions of section 14 shall apply to any funds held for the purpose of effecting such provision.

(2) Except as provided in subsection 3, suspension or cessation of contributions to a pension plan shall be construed as a termination of the plan.

(3) Where contributions to a pension plan cease on or after the 1st day of January, 1965, as the result of the adoption of a new plan, the original pension plan shall be deemed not to have been terminated or wound-up under this section or under subsection 7 of section 21 of the Act and the benefits of the original plan shall be deemed to be benefits associated with the new plan in whole or in part in respect of service prior to the establishment of the new plan, whether or not the assets and liabilities of the original plan have been consolidated with those of the new plan.

(4) Upon the termination or winding-up of a pension plan the administrator of the plan shall file with the Commission a report prepared by an actuary setting out the nature of the benefits to be provided under the plan and a description of the methods of allocation and priorities for determining the full or partial benefits of the members thereof, and no assets of the plan shall be applied toward the provision of any such benefits until the Commission has approved the said report, provided that, pending such approval, the administrator of the plan may pay as they fall due any periodic payments to persons entitled thereto and may pay any refunds of the employee contributions to persons entitled thereto.

(5) For the purposes of subsection 7 of section 21 of the Act the actuary shall in his report prepared under subsection 4 reduce the amounts of the additional pension benefits to which any person may otherwise be entitled to such extent as will in his opinion prevent unfair impairment of the other pension benefits accrued under the plan, provided that the aggregate value of any additional pension benefits already paid and proposed to be paid after such reduction, to the extent that such additional pension benefits form part of deferred life annuities provided for in section 21 of the Act or of any life annuities arising therefrom, shall be not less than the value, as estimated by the actuary, of the special payments made in respect of the additional pension benefits forming such part.

(6) Where a pension plan is terminated or wound-up in part, the rights and interests of those employees and former employees thereby affected shall be not less than those to which such employees and former employees would have been entitled if the whole of the pension plan had been terminated or wound-up on the same date as such partial termination or winding-up. O. Reg. 91/69, s. 3.

12.—(1) The commuted value of a deferred life annuity shall be calculated in a manner acceptable to the Commission.

(2) Where a plan is insured by individual level premium contracts, the deferred life annuity referred to in clause a of subsection 1 of section 21 of the Act may, in the case of a contract issued prior to the qualification date, be equal to the paid-up annuity under the contract arising from contributions made for service on and after the qualification date if the special payments required with respect to such deferred life annuity under the contract have all been paid or shall continue to be paid. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 12.

13. Where a pension plan provides for a supplemental or minimum make-up annuity that is not on the average a substantial portion of the total annuity of the employees retiring under the plan, the supplemental or minimum make-up annuity may, with the approval of the Commission, be excluded in computing the pension benefit under subsection 1 of section 21 of the Act. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 13.

14.—(1) This section applies notwithstanding the provisions of any pension plan or any instrument governing the plan.

(2) The funds of a pension plan may be invested and loaned only in investments and loans in which a company may invest and lend under subsections 1, 2, 5, 6 and 10 of section 63 of the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act (Canada), as amended from time to time and the restrictions and limitations contained therein apply.

(3) Where a pension fund owns securities of a corporation and as a result of a bona fide arrangement for the reorganization or liquidation of the corporation or for the amalgamation of the corporation with another corporation, such securities are to be exchanged for bonds, debentures or other evidences of indebtedness, or shares not eligible as investments under subsection 2, the pension fund may accept and hold such bonds, debentures or other evidences of indebtedness or shares.

(4) The funds of a pension plan may be invested or loaned in investments or loans not authorized by subsection 2 or 3, including investments in real estate or leaseholds, subject to the following provisions:

1. Investments in real estate or leaseholds under this subsection shall be made in Canada and only for the production of income and may be made either alone or jointly with another plan and the fund or plan may hold, maintain, improve, develop, repair, lease, sell or otherwise deal with or dispose of such real estate or leaseholds, but the total investment of a fund under this subsection in any one parcel of real estate or in any one leasehold shall not exceed 1 per cent of the book value of the total assets of the fund.

2. This subsection shall be deemed not to enlarge the authority conferred by subsections 1 and 2 of section 63 of the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act (Canada) to invest in mortgages or hypothecs and to lend on the security of real estate or leaseholds, and not to affect the operation of sub-paragraphs iii, iv and v of paragraph l of subsection 1 of the said section 63.

3. The total book value of the investments and loans made under this subsection and held by the fund, excluding those that are or at any time since acquisition have been eligible apart from this subsection, shall not exceed 7 per cent of the book value of the total assets of the fund. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 14 (1-4).

(5) The funds of a pension plan shall not be lent to,

(a) the wife or a child of the employer or, where the employer is a corporation, a director or officer of the corporation or his wife or child;

(b) a corporation of which more than one-half of the shares of the capital stock are owned by the wife or a child of the employer, or any combination thereof, or, where the employer is a corporation, by a director or officer of the employer corporation or his wife or child, or any combination thereof;

(c) an officer or employee of the fund or plan or an administrator or trustee of the fund or plan or an officer or employee of an administrator or trustee of the fund or plan or a union representing employees of the employer or an officer or employee of the union, or the wife or child of any of them; or

(d) the wife or child of an employee of the employer or an employee of the employer except on the security of a mortgage on the residential property of an employer's employee or the spouse or child of such employee primarily for his or her own use. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 14 (5); O. Reg. 148/67, s. 2.

(6) The funds of a pension plan shall not be invested or loaned if the result of the investing or loaning would be that more than 10 per cent of the book value of the total assets of the fund are invested in the assets of or loaned to any one corporation, partnership, association or person, including investment in shares, bonds, debentures or other evidences of indebtedness, loans by way of mortgage or otherwise and investment in real estate, plant or equipment occupied or used by the corporation, partnership, association or person.

(7) All investments and deposits of the funds of a pension plan and all loans made out of a pension fund shall be made in the name of the fund or plan, and no officer or employee of the fund or plan, no trustee or administrator or officer or employee thereof, no employer, officer or employee thereof, no association of employees and no union, officer or employee thereof shall accept or be the beneficiary of, either directly or indirectly, any fee, brokerage, commission, gift or other consideration for or on account of any loan, deposit, purchase, sale, payment or exchange made by or on behalf of the pension fund.

(8) In addition to the investments and loans authorized by subsections 2 and 3, the funds of a pension plan may be invested in,

(a) a pooled, segregated or mutual fund; or

(b) the shares of a corporation,

(i) whose assets are at least 98 per cent cash, investments and loans,

(ii) that does not issue debt obligations, and

(iii) that obtains at least 98 per cent of its income from investments and loans, if the pooled, segregated or mutual fund or the corporation is limited in its investments to those a pension plan may make under this section and is subject to the limitations and restrictions of this section.

(9) Where the funds of a pension plan are invested in accordance with subsection 8, subsection 6 does not apply to such funds.

(10) A pension fund or plan may take additional securities of any nature further to secure the repayment to the fund of any loan or investment, or further to secure the sufficiency of any of the securities in or upon which such fund or plan is authorized to invest or lend any of its funds.

(11) Where, on the date the fiscal year of a pension fund ends next following the 4th day of August, 1964, the loans and investments of a pension fund do not conform in whole or in part to the provisions of this Regulation, they shall be brought into conformity within five years of the end of such fiscal year.

(12) Where the provisions of this section differ from the corresponding provisions under the legislation of a designated province, the Commission may, in the case of a plan having plan members in such designated province, accept in whole or in part such corresponding provisions. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 14 (6-12).

15. A profit-sharing plan that has been accepted for registration by the Minister of National Revenue for Canada before the 1st day of January, 1965 under the Income Tax Act (Canada) and that provided at the time of such acceptance that each member may take his entire interest in the plan in a cash sum when he ceases to be an employee whether by retirement or other termination of employment may, with the approval of the Commission, be excepted from the Act and the regulations. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 15.

16.—(1) A transfer of a pension benefit credit arising from a deferred life annuity under section 21 of the Act to the administrator, insurer or trustee of another pension plan or to a registered retirement savings plan, or to an insurer on the winding-up of a pension plan may be made only where the transferee agrees to administer the amount of deferred life annuity established by the pension benefit credit transferred as a deferred life annuity under the Act.

(2) Except to the extent permitted by subsection 4 of section 21 of the Act, no policy or contract or benefit description issued by a transferee mentioned in subsection 1 to an employee shall contain any cash or loans or assignment clause. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 16.

17. For the purposes of subsection 5 of section 21 of the Act, mental or physical disability means a disability that is likely to shorten considerably the life expectancy of an employee or former employee. O. Reg. 103/66, s. 17.
